DANIELSON.

Death of Dr. Charles J. LeClaire, Successful Physician and Prominent Citizen—Honors Announced at High School—Raymond E. Allen Assistant Postmaster.

Dr. C. J. LeClaire died at his home here at 10:15 Thursday morning. For more than two years his health had been gradually breaking down, and on January 23 of this year he retired from active practice in the hope that the respite from his arduous duties would aid in the restoration of his health, although he realized that the chances were unfavorable. For the past month he has been confined to his home, constantly growing weaker and on Sunday last his condition became so critical as to indicate the approaching end. Death was due to pernicious anemia.

Charles J. LeClaire was born in St. Louis de Gonzaga, Beauharnais county, P. Q., May 6, 1863, the oldest son of Dr. C. J. and Marie (Berthelot) LeClaire, and on his maternal side was a relative of the Beaudry, Berthelot, and Desjardin families of Montreal, prominent in the affairs of the Dominion. He studied at the seminary of St. Theresa de Blainville, and graduated in the class of 1887 from the Victoria medical college of Montreal. In 1888 he came to Danielson and commenced the practice of medicine and continued with uninterrupted success up to a little more than two months ago. On June 17, 1890, Dr. LeClaire was married in Danielson to Miss Emma Bedard of Helena, Montana. Located in a French-Canadian center surrounded by numerous villages with a heavy percentage of Canadian residents, Dr. LeClaire forged rapidly into the leadership of the affairs of the people of his nationality. Always thoroughly interested in their welfare, he was not only their physician but their friend; a man to whom they looked for advice and counsel, a man known and loved by old and young, to one to whom they came in the hour of misfortune or perhaps at the moment of joy and success.

Naturally a leader, he devoted for years a generous portion of his time to the consolidation of the interests of French-Canadians for the preservation of their language, for the betterment of their economic condition and for the greater influence they could wield united in the affairs of city, state and nation. He urged upon them the value of higher education, the necessity of citizenship, the need of an understanding of the American form of government and indicated the rewards that accrue in this nation to the people who become a factor and power in its control. His labors in behalf of his people won from them the recognition it deserved. The highest honors in the gift of the French societies of the state were conferred upon him.

His political preference was always on the side of the republican party. Scores of Canadians whom he caused to enter into citizenship joined him in his affiliation with republican principles and his influence in this part of eastern Connecticut is responsible in a great degree for the development and union of the majority of Canadian citizens' organizations with the dominant party. Not only among Canadians was Dr. LeClaire appreciated and honored. He served as president of the Windham County Medical society, a member of the pension examining board for Windham county, as a member of the supreme board of the National French-Canadian congress for Connecticut, president of the Society St. Jean Baptiste, president of the Union St. Jean Baptiste, and a contributor to various French newspapers published in the United States and Canada.

His death marks the end of an active life devoted professionally and voluntarily to the betterment of his fellow beings. Of the loss sustained all who knew him are deeply sensible. He is survived by his wife, four daughters, Yvonne, Corinne, Yolande, Germaine, one son, Berthelot, and a sister, Mrs. M. L. LeClaire of St. Theresa, Canada.

THE RECORD OF THE McPHAIL PIANO

which for sixty-two years has been built on honor and sold on merit. It is a record of consistent and steadfast adherence to the ideal of quality and musical excellence.

The McPhail is pre-eminently a piano for the home of culture and musical tastes, one evidence of which is the fact that over 20,000 McPhail Pianos are in the homes of Boston and vicinity.

A convincing testimony, is it not, that the McPhail is appreciated?

ELM BEETLES

Must Be Combated by Prompt and Early Spraying.

W. E. Britton of Hartford, state entomologist, who has inspected the elm trees of Danielson, warns local people that spraying must commence this month if there is to be any hope of saving the trees. Beetles played havoc with the government, stripping them of foliage and unless precautions are taken a recurrence of the trouble is inevitable this season.

Nearly Run Down by an Automobile.

Mrs. Albert Granger, an aged Putnam resident, narrowly escaped being run down on Elm street Thursday afternoon by an automobile from a garage of Danielson. The machine whirled around Hugbee's corner, headed down Elm street, just as Mrs. Granger started to cross the street on the walk at the north end of the building occupied by Ballard and Clark. Mrs. Granger looked up just before the machine was about to strike her and in endeavoring to escape injury turned and fell to the ground, close to the wheels of the passing car. The chauffeur stopped the auto. Mrs. Granger was uninjured, except from shock, and was assisted to a nearby store, from which she was able to proceed in a few minutes.

HEADLESS BODY

Found Near Bloomington, Ind., May Be That of W. H. Reynolds.

Putnam relatives were deeply concerned Thursday as to whether or not the decapitated body with eleven wounds near the heart found near Bloomington, Ind., is that of W. H. Reynolds, formerly of this city. Telegrams to the chief of police of Bloomington corroborate Reynolds' description in nearly every particular, and a telegraphic request has also been made to hold the body for identification and to send photographs. A despatch says that no identification has been established, except for the initials W. H. R. in his hat.

The body was found beside the track with the head lying between the rails. Mr. Reynolds, who is a brother of Samuel Reynolds of Putnam, was a partner in the firm of Reynolds Brothers, who conducted what is now the Putnam News company store up to about two years ago. Mr. Reynolds went to Worcester, but he has not been seen by his relatives for about a year. He has been in Worcester, to whom he has been married only a short time, and she was in communication Thursday with relatives in Putnam as to the finding of the body, which it is expected will prove to be her husband's. The description answers in almost every detail except that on the dead man there is a scar four inches below the sternum and the top of a part of the index finger of the right hand. The scar is explained in part by the fact that Reynolds wrote some time ago that he was to undergo an operation at Glenville hospital, Cleveland. That he was very ill at the hospital was known. He had been gone from there some time.

A special delivery letter has been sent to the hospital to inquire the location of the operation. Friends say that there is every reason to believe that the dead man is Mr. Reynolds. From the knife wounds it is thought that he was killed, thrown on the track ahead of a train and his head cut off in that way. He is described as between 25 and 30 years of age, 5 feet 9 inches tall, about 175 pounds in weight, hazel eyes, dark brown curly hair, smooth shaven, and wearing No. 8 shoes. All points of which agree with a description of Mr. Reynolds.

Goes to Willimantic Hotel.

Stokes Watson, who has for years been a porter engaged by various hotels in Putnam, went to Willimantic Thursday evening, entering the employ of E. A. Winter at the Hooker house, as porter.

Filter Working Well.

A recent analysis of the Putnam city water at the laboratory of the state board of health indicates that it is low in mineral content and soft, indicating that the recently installed filtering plant is working very satisfactorily.

SILK JOURNAL

Pictures and Writes Up Hon. George A. Hammond.

The current number of the American Silk Journal presents an excellent photograph of Hon. George A. Hammond of this city, accompanying a two page article on the observance of the 25th anniversary of his coming to Putnam by a banquet tendered him by the business and professional men at Putnam Inn. The article pays a deserved tribute to Mr. Hammond's abilities as a successful manufacturer, and as being one of the leading silk men of New England.
